

Spring Brings Fun Activities

Artists in Residence

◀ Dressed up as Impressionist painters, the fifth graders presented their own version of a Paris Salon art show in the Davenport House.

Hitting the Trail for Class

▼ Upper School May Term students hiked and biked across the Inland Northwest, danced in River Park Square, and explored local history — a case of learning by doing.

Coast Trip Discoveries

▼ Eighth graders examined shells in an Olympic Peninsula tidepool during their class's week-long visit to the Pacific Coast.

An Awesome Book

► Children's author Dallas Clayton visited the Lower School in May to read his book and give each K, 1st and 2nd grader a copy of their own. How awesome is that!

Some Happily Ever After?

▼ Queen Agravaïn tries in vain to convince Prince Dauntless that no princess is good enough for him in the Upper School's spring comedy "Once Upon A Mattress."

Creative Handiwork

◀ Will Start shows off his extra hand from the ArtWalk ceramics exhibit. The April event also featured drawing, photography, drama, music, and the annual Lower School Writers' Celebration.
